

Procedure for applying to MED Courses academic year 2024/2025

MED courses are provided by the School of Medicine of Università degli Studi di Milano in Milano. The courses have a limited number of places reserved for the students enrolled at MSc in Biomedical Engineering. The courses are taught in Italian. All the MED courses are taught in three different hospitals in Milan: Ospedale San Paolo (OSP), Ospedale Luigi Sacco (OLS) e Policlinico (OPL). Some courses are taught in one hospital only, see the table below.

The selection of a specific hospital center will be taken into consideration but not guaranteed as the tutor of each course will distribute the students in the different centers in order to meet the available places. The students should successively ask about the modality and the schedule of the MED course enrolled at.

Procedure for applying.

In the next page you can find the form. You have to fill the form and send it to the Secretariat of Biomedical Engineering by email didattica-deib@polimi.it.

Ranking criteria

The student ranking for the admission to MED courses will be defined according to the following criteria (in descending ordering of importance):

- number of semesters spent at the master
- Bachelor degree mark
- in case of equal merit, other data will be considered (number of credits acquired and secondary the average grade)

The students, who have already attended one MED course, can attend a MED course only in case of available places. A student can refuse the MED course assigned by sending an email to the Student Secretariat (didattica-deib@polimi.it). When a MED course is refused, the student can't attend it anymore. The student, who will not communicate the refusal of the assigned course, has to include the MED course in the study plan within the deadline. If a student will not include the assigned MED course in the study plan, this fact will penalize the student in the future rankings.

Deadlines

From 28/08 to 04/09	The student should send the form by email to the Student Secretariat or in person to the student office.
5/09	The student should send the form by email to the Student Secretariat or in person to the student office, if interested in the courses of first semester
10/09	Publication of the student ranking on the website ccsbio.polimi.it in the news section.
